BMW WIRELESS CHARGING STATION

$194.00

The holder features attractive BMW design and provides a secure, sturdy storage point for your mobile phone. The station enables you to wirelessly charge Qi-compatible mobile phones of almost all conventional sizes. An adjustable coil ensures maximum inductive charging efficiency. An integral power bank means that wireless charging is also possible outside the car. The additional USB type C input and output means that the mobile phone can be charged without wireless charging and the power bank can be charged outside the car. Consists of two components: the socket (holder, installed in the cup holder) and the charger (with integral power bank). The socket and charger can be interconnected for use as a charging station in the car. The charger with integral power bank can simply be taken out of the socket for use as a mobile power bank and inductive charging point. The correct coil position for the mobile phone can be set on the side to ensure an efficient charging process.
